

2nd Annual
BE GOOD TO WOMEN DAY
Tuesday, March 15
A National Day of Prayer

WHO: Brad Sanders, host of the nationally syndicated radio Show “On the Phone with Ti-Rone,” along with other leaders from religious, community and national organizations (TBA) who are committed to a national movement to honor, respect and support women.

WHAT: The second annual “BE GOOD TO WOMEN DAY.” This day will be commemorated by a national day of prayer for women. Our goal is for people all over America and in other countries to take time out to pray for women. There will be different topics of prayer for each of the day’s 24 hours. A list of the topics that have been suggested to us has been included. We are encouraging men in particular, but all people on this special day, to focus on the women in their lives in a loving and nurturing way.

WHEN: March 15th, 2005

WHERE: This is a nationwide movement that began in Los Angeles in 2004, and spread through the airwaves of “On the Phone with Ti-Rone”

HOW: Individuals, families, community leaders, church leaders, organizations and media personalities everywhere are being called upon to pray, meditate and hold discussions and vigils across the country.

WHY: When we degrade or devalue women we debase ourselves. There is nothing more dangerous or destructive than a person who cares nothing about him or herself. This mentality leads to abandonment, exploitation, abuse and violence.

Being kind and loving to women is more than a temporary “feel good” moment. It’s about holding ourselves to a higher standard and changing the way we think of women. Far too often women are thought of as objects and/or receptacles. We must change the paradigm if we are to improve the quality of life for all people.

Nations are built on the foundation of the family unit. Families begin with the coming together of a man and a woman. We must always treat women as the blessed inspired force in our universe that they were created to be. If we do not, we will never achieve such lofty ideals as world peace, racial equality or economic parity. We must pray for our women, prayer changes things.

“If my people who are called by My name shall humble themselves and pray, then I will hear from heaven and heal the land.” 2 Chronicles 7: 14.
